Manufacturing facility is a complex network of machines, sensors, and controllers that enable the continuous production and quality control of products. A large number of items are manufactured simultaneously in large production lines, and to ensure quality, the plant must be connected to a data center. The data center ensures that a certain level of quality is maintained by sending automated alerts if the production line fails to meet a certain target. Once the production line is in danger of failing, the plant must be shut down in order to stop the production of products.
