best way to share my love of books, reading, and writing?
Free time is precious. If you read books, you know that the Internet is littered with book links. Unfortunately, most of them are links to paid content.
I would like to encourage people to share the books they are reading, or the books that have influenced them, or the books they are currently reading. If you have read a book you want to recommend, please join our Yahoo Group, "The Reading and Reviewing Group." I have many readers who are interested in the same things that I am. I'm not sure that I really have anything to say about this book except that it is a quick read that made me think about a number of interesting things. The ideal of "no pain, no gain" has always appealed to me. I like the idea of self-improvement without having to go through a lot of pain to get there. But, as time has gone on, I've realized that I need pain to grow. If I never experienced the pain that comes with work, I would
