the loaf of "bread of life," he shows up eating and gives thanks. Luke 24:44 (NIV) When Jesus had spoken these words, he took bread, gave thanks and broke it. Then he gave it to them, saying, "This is my body given for you. Do this in remembrance of me." I'm having some trouble understanding what Jesus meant by "this is my body." What is the nature of Jesus's physical body at that time? What is the nature of the bread of life? A: According to John's Gospel, Jesus didn't eat any bread, he only spoke and ate a piece of the eucharistic bread. So, in that sense, Jesus did not have a "physical body."

However, he did have a visible body, which the temple guards saw and recorded. The bread Jesus took was not a simple piece of bread as we understand it today, but it was made up of myriads of cells, the quantity of bread was not known. Jesus took this bread, as the later church tradition teaches, to show that his death and resurrection was an actual event, and that he is the bread which is broken, giving us life. He was giving the bread his life, showing that he was the real food that life depends on. Therefore, he did have a body, that could be seen and touched. And he was able to eat it.
