Note Adobe publishes a newsletter at www.adobe.com/products/photoshop. Each newsletter contains special pages of Photoshop tips and tricks on the site. When you create a new Photoshop document, the easiest way to introduce layers is to start with a simple default document. A new image starts out with a background and foreground layer, or two layers to your canvas. You have a multitude of ways to create and manipulate those layers. # Creating a New Photoshop Document Starting with a new document means that you have an empty canvas and a blank slate to create whatever you want. A document is a container, or a temporary holding tank, for your images and layers. When you start a new document, the background of the new document is white. When you create a new document, it's the equivalent of pressing the New button in a word processor: You create an empty document with a white background. 1. On the Layers panel, select New. Photoshop opens a new document, shown in Figure 14-4. The New document icon appears in the upper-left corner of the workspace. This document has a white background. Figure 14-4: A new document with a white background and a single layer. 2. Click the New Document button to return to the Layers panel (Figure 14-5). A new document appears

Q: What is the best way to escape this string? I have the following string PRAGMA dcl_index = idx_mytable; PRAGMA dcl_parent = 10; CREATE INDEX idx_mytable ON a_table (id); CREATE TABLE IF NOT EXISTS a_table ("id" integer NOT NULL, "abc" varchar(16) NOT NULL, PRIMARY KEY ("id")); MySql returns an error in line 2: 1265 - Data truncated for column 'abc' at row 1 I have tried the following. But it doesnt work. It may be because "something" is getting put onto the string itself SELECT * FROM a_table; -- Error SELECT * FROM a_table AS z ; -- Error SELECT * FROM a_table ^ "abc" ; -- Error So what is the best way to escape this string. I can think of these options. Escape it in the select query Escape it while executing it. EDIT: Just want to let you know that this is happening when I put the SQL into a stored procedure and executed A: Whatever string you give to the database has to be a string - anything else is a no-no. The database will insert the data as a string into the table and hence you'll get an error. The thing is, that string really has nothing to do with the error. In order to fix this you need to escape the string to something that MySQL recognizes as a string. Let's see how: Here's what you want to do PRAGMA dcl_index = idx_mytable; PRAGMA dcl_parent = 10; CREATE INDEX idx_mytable ON a_table (id); CREATE TABLE IF NOT EXISTS a_table ("id" integer NOT NULL, "abc" varchar(16) NOT NULL, PRIMARY KEY ("id")); Notice that I surrounded the string by backticks and replaced the

Q: I want to compare two csv file and check if same in both file I want to compare two csv file and check if same in both file. I have made a file called 'old.csv' which is in this format: google.com newa.com and a file called 'new.csv' which is in this format: google.com facebook.com newa.com So,the output should be if any of the file is not equal to the both the files then it will return the name which is missing from the 'new.csv' file. I know that how to use shell script to read the csv file. A: try to use the cmp command. the syntax is simple: $ cmp -c filename1 filename2 $ cmp -c filename1 filename2 the problem with your script is that you have a syntax error after "do" : $ cmp file.csv new.csv I hope that's helpful A: Did you mean? if any of the file is not equal to the both the files then it will return the name which is missing from the 'new.csv' file #!/bin/sh # DIFF=`diff -u /* * Copyright (C) 2020 The Android Open Source Project * * Licensed under the Apache License, Version 2.0 (the "License"); * you may not use this file except in compliance with the License. * You may obtain a copy of the License at * * * * Unless required by applicable law or agreed to in writing, software * distributed under the License is distributed on an "AS IS" BASIS, * WITHOUT WARRANTIES OR CONDITIONS OF ANY KIND, either express or implied. * See the License for the specific language governing permissions and * limitations under the License. */ // ATTENTION: This file has
