At about 9:48 a.m. on June 13, police responded to the area of Chase Hill and Robeson Street for the report of children injured in a hit-and-run crash. Officers found a woman trying to help a child, who was injured in the crash, and were then told that a van had just struck a group of children. Investigators determined that the van was heading westbound in the 3000 block of Ashton Street when it crossed the center line and hit a group of children, according to a Washington Post report. According to police, a Mercedes-Benz pickup truck rear-ended the van just before the impact. The truck then fled the scene. Fifth-grader Sadie Small and her cousin were walking near the intersection of Chase Hill Road and Robeson Street at the time of the crash. "I don't remember much about it except when she said she was hit and that she fell," Sadie Small said. "I was trying to help her, but the van just kept going." Sadie Small was taken to the University of Maryland Shock Trauma Center. She underwent surgery for severe head trauma, abrasions and a broken ankle. In a separate incident in the same neighborhood, investigators said they believe a woman struck a small vehicle with a lawn mower, causing the vehicle to crash. Russian media reported that the driver of the lorry claimed to be intoxicated. A passenger in the lorry, Sergei Kukin, told reporters that the driver had lost control of the vehicle when they encountered a speed bump. Russia's Red Cross is checking the condition of the remaining victim, a police spokesman told AFP news agency. The incident occurred near the town of Feodosiya, in the Crimean peninsula. The driver, who was injured and under treatment, was being questioned by police, local news agencies quoted Mr Kukin as saying. The identity of the driver has not yet been disclosed. The head of Crimea's traffic police, Vadim Bugayev, told AFP that investigations were underway b7e8fdf5c8

GEDCOM Validator Crack+

GEDCOM Validator is a handy application that allows you to browse an entire large number of existing genealogical files and check their integrity. Usually, this is done by browsing the GEDCOM files and verifying in advance, but this won't always work, especially if the source file has been updated or composed by a different application. GEDCOM Validator is the kind of application that is equipped to handle such problematic files. GEDCOM Validator Keys Features: Older files have not been set as default and you'll have to browse the location of the target file to select it. Overall, the application works smoothly and does its job properly. Once the location of the target file is selected, it's enough to click the OK button to load it. If the file was already in the list of files, there will be a tool icon next to it. Clicking it will take you to the application's HTM explanation page. The application comes equipped with a basic file explorer that will allow you to browse the GEDCOM file. Compatibility: Existing version are compatible. We are using it for many reasons, some of them are: 1. Communication 2. Education 3. Management of our daily activities 4. Entertainment. But if we look at the various levels of our daily living and our busyness there is a huge gap between the two. The gap is that we just have access to a few types of devices to use and even that we have limited time to use it. Our limited time for use is because our work and our busyness gets the first priority in our lives. Our device of choice are- phone, laptop, and tablet. The real losers are our jobs; we have a hustling lifestyle and we are forced to compromise our service to customers and clients because we need to do our jobs. Our jobs are demanding and heavy. As a result we just have little time to spare for our personal uses. What is the right thing
