A great feature in Active@ Data Studio is the ability to search all of the data contained on your drive. This can be used for both finding lost files and for looking for viruses. The software does not have the scanning functionality of other programs on this site, but it is still a comprehensive, advanced and easy to use tool which is compatible with many different file systems. To recover files on a partition, you can use the third-party tool FAT16/32 Partition Recovery & Recovery for FAT12 and other file systems. Once the partition is mounted, the tool can recover all the files on the partition, including all the files that have been deleted, moved, copied or otherwise modified. It can also recover files from the backup files that you created through the software.
